All together – Forming strong, trusting relationships in schools

Way of inspiration

Each school presents best practise examples to the other schools.

Result:
Becoming aware of the own working quality

Each school chooses one or more aspects to adaption for the own school.

Result:
Engagement with and development of the own school programme

Each school works with pupils, staff, parents and find a way of implementation.

Result:
A lot of great activities which strengthen relationships

Each school presents the implementation of the adapted idea.

Results:
Experience the possibility of change and development; getting new inspiration

Schools experience the presentations and the inspiration.

Schools have learned a new way of inspiring each other.
Schools can bring it to their regional networks.

✓ structural result

Did we strengthen relationships in schools by working in this way?

It's difficult to measure a good relationship, but

- ✓ We have focused ourselves on the importance of relationships
- ✓ We have gotten a lot of new activity-ideas which can help us to improve relationships
- ✓ We have found strengths, which we will continue and weaknesses, which we will improve

And last but not least...

Pupils, staff and parents have had a lot of fun together

So the result is...

Yes, we have strengthened relationships in schools! 😊
